

1 The young girl and her friend, the animal (by Marie MORETTI)

Once upon a time, a young girl who was wearing a pink long dress whose she was proud of.

Aurore was walking in the forest when she met a big brown bear.

First, she was afraid but after, she has found it such so nice that she walked to it.

From the day, the bear "Winy" and Aurore had become the best friends of the world.

Aurore come to see Winy every day. She brought it some honey and cookies.

Winy caressed Aurore to thank her.

He met her its friends, the animals. He showed its home in the cave.

Aurore asked her father if she could sleep with her new friend in the forest.

But the father announced his decision to cut the woods to build a hotel in spit of the animals which were living in this forest.

Aurore implored her father to give up his project.

Her father, a few days after, went to the forest to see where the hotel will be built.

He had an accident with the car and there, Winy went to rescue the father.

The father was so surprised and happy, he decided to build his hotel in an other place.

Aurore and Winy jumped for joy and they returned in the forest to tell friends, the animals the very good news.
